

NOT ON THE RÉSUMÉ
THORNTON MALLARD, Realtor

Mallard

This Realtor's gone fishin'

Sometimes Thornton Mallard leaves a note on the door of the sales office at Blalock Lakes in Newnan that says he's out on the property.

The 25-year-old Realtor, who handles on-site sales at the new community, also leaves his cell-phone on in case someone needs him.

Then he heads out to enjoy fishing one of the two lakes on the property and to reconnect with the outdoors, a lifelong passion.

Mallard started hunting and fishing with his father when he was a kid growing up in Atlanta. They'd go to a family farm in Newnan or to South Georgia.

These days, Mallard, who lives in Atlanta, likes getting a break from his busy city life. (In addition to his "real job," he plays in a band and coaches pee-wee football.)

"I live in Atlanta," he said. "Everything is so fast-paced. Fishing is a getaway. It is relaxing."
